

Shari Collins is a leading consultant and speaker specializing in creating thriving workplace cultures. With experience spanning education, training, HR, and organizational development, Shari empowers workplaces across the globe to foster positive change. Recognized by Marquis Who's Who and as "The Most Admired Leader to Watch in 2024" by Insights Success Magazine, Shari serves on the Advisory Board for Harvard Business Review and as Diversity Director for HR-Nebraska State Council.

Driven by her passion for fostering multi-generational workplaces, Shari's expertise has earned her invitations to speak at numerous prestigious events worldwide, culminating in presentations on ageism in 2024 at Cambridge University in England and at SHRM Inclusion. With recent certifications in Psychological Safety and Organizational Happiness, Shari is at the forefront of applying various research-based strategies for modern workplace challenges. She is currently advancing her expertise through the Chief Well-Being Officer Certification with the World Happiness Academy.

She facilitates professional development for educators nationwide through the National Education Association and recently contributed a chapter on "Inclusion" for the Parent Ready! book series (Chief Council of State School Officers). She also facilitates national DEI conversations for Open Sesame's DEI Club.

On a personal note, Shari loves reading and learning, caring for her plants, and spending time with her family and their 2 rescue Yorkie sisters. Connect with Shari to explore how she can help your organization cultivate a culture of belonging, happiness, and well-being.
